

ALLEGANY COUNTY UNITED WAY INCOME IMPACT COUNCIL

STRATEGIES AND APPROACHES

VISION: Provide people of all ages with the structural opportunities that result in economic self-sufficiency.

The Allegany County United Way (ACUW) and the Allegany County United Way Income Impact Council are committed to advancing the common good and to creating opportunities for a better life for all by focusing on community-level changes that can and will improve people's lives. The ACUW and the Income Impact Council plan to improve income outcomes by mobilizing the public sector, private sector, and individuals around the systems that impact individuals' ability to attain economic self-sufficiency. A comprehensive approach to income is needed to help people build and retain assets and establish financial stability.

The Income Impact Council, with the approval of the Allegany County United Way Board of Directors, has identified the following five focus areas that will drive its income impact agenda:

1. Individual and Family Sustaining Employment
2. Income Supports
3. Savings and Assets
4. Manageable Expenses
5. Affordable Housing

Lower-income working individuals and working families experience a number of personal and structural obstacles to achieving financial stability. These obstacles fall into three broad categories:

- Lack of quality education and training
- Lack of awareness of existing/surrounding resources
- Lack of access to supports and services

The evidence-based strategies and approaches in each of the five focus areas are designed to address these obstacles.

If the Allegany County United Way and the Allegany County United Way Income Impact Council are to make meaningful progress toward the community impact goals, we must think beyond the traditional avenues and identify additional 'distribution' channels that will help reach a greater percentage of the target population. One such distribution channel is the business community – a likely source of income for most low to middle class individuals and families as well as the source for healthcare, retirement, and other benefits. It is important to note that this is a dynamic process and as the work moves forward, the ACUW and the Income Impact Council expect to identify additional strategies that will be well suited to assist in the achievement of the income impact vision.

Contained within this document are advocacy and public policy approaches. The ACUW and the Council realize that advocacy is naturally embedded in the strategies and approaches; however, there are some advocacy approaches that stand alone. These approaches are noted and will be the responsibility of the Allegany County United Way and the Income Impact Council to execute; therefore they will not be open to funding.
